What

if you knew of a way to keep your high level, competitive wages, but add to that a complete set of fringe benefits?

What if you were able to work with a colleague whose job is to help you find work.

What if you had the opportunity to work as close to or as far away from home as you want?

Would you jump on it?

Get ready to leap.

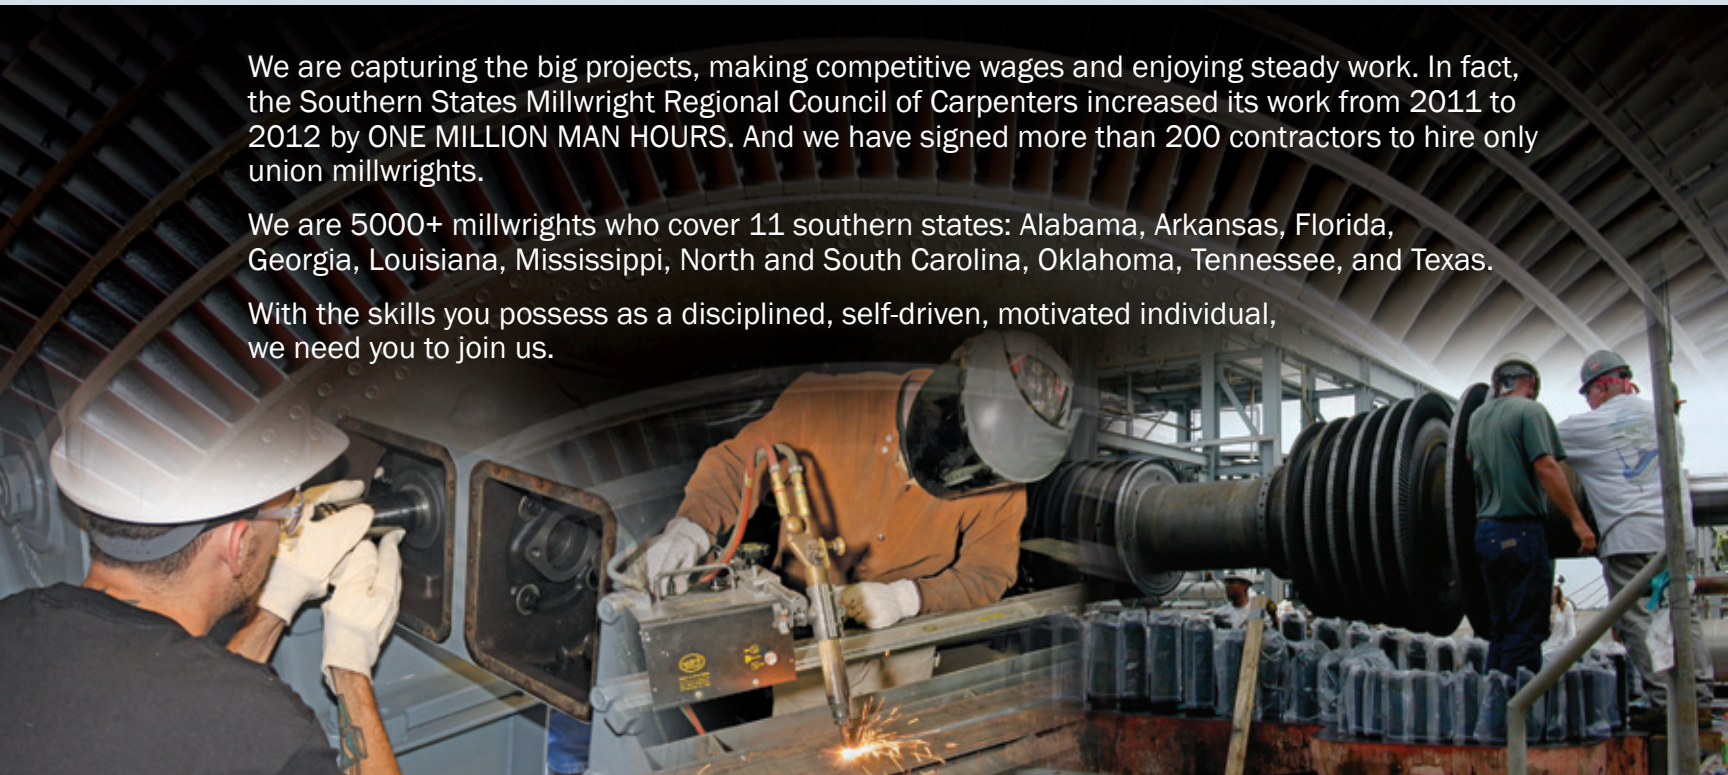

No one has to tell you that millwrights are an elite group of construction workers, especially in this area. But what you may not know is that union millwrights are in huge demand because we are responding to customer needs with everything they want: solid work and the depth of manpower to keep any size job that comes along on schedule.

Our priorities?
Safety. Training.
Competitive Pay.
Comprehensive Benefits.

We are capturing the big projects, making competitive wages and enjoying steady work. In fact, the Southern States Millwright Regional Council of Carpenters increased its work from 2011 to 2012 by ONE MILLION MAN HOURS. And we have signed more than 200 contractors to hire only union millwrights.

We are 5000+ millwrights who cover 11 southern states: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee, and Texas.

With the skills you possess as a disciplined, self-driven, motivated individual, we need you to join us.

Ditch the Stereotypes:

FICTION

Union millwrights strong-arm their customers.

Union millwrights go on strike.

The union holds you back.

FACT

We are a business-oriented group that works with our customers instead of against them. If they succeed, we succeed.

We can't remember the last time that our employers encountered a work stoppage.

Success is up to you. We offer opportunities for training, job placement, upward mobility, and more.

Let's Talk Money

Union millwrights are paid by the hour. As members of the Southern States Millwright Regional Council:

- you are represented on the job site, meaning you'll always know what you're getting paid
- you'll get pre-negotiated regular and overtime wages
- you'll earn a competitive wage and comprehensive benefits for you and your family
- there's a lot of room for advancement

FICTION

Non-union millwrights make more money.

Union work is scarce.
