

Local 1421 Millwright Chosen for Siemens Ad Campaign

One of SSMRC's own has been chosen to be the face of Siemens's new ad campaign for safety. Mark Carter, of Local 1421, has been chosen to be the lead figure for Siemens's poster campaign to raise awareness for on-the-job safety. Mark was chosen because of his work ethics, his supervision skills, and his attention to safety. He has been the steward for numerous projects at the Comanche Peak nuclear plant near Glen Rose, TX where this picture was taken.

"Mark is what I call a 'rounded' millwright. He can work on any project and has the knowledge to take care of the work no matter what facet of millwright work it is," said Local 1421 Business Representative David Bonds. Because of his skills and professional manner, Mark is called upon to be part of the Comanche Peak projects from start to finish by being part of both the mobilization and demobilization process.

And, not only is Mark a veteran millwright, but three of his uncles, his father, and his grandfather, who served as a business representative for Local 1421 for three terms, were also union millwrights. Mr. Carter is a father of two, one girl and one boy. Congratulations, Mark!

THIS FLAG STAND, which was displayed at the August council meeting, was crafted and donated by Arkansas/Oklahoma carpenter instructor, Dennis Curtis.

"Having a Display with flags of all the 11 states represented in our council is just another way of showing the solidarity that the staff, delegates, and members are striving each day to maintain," said SSMRC Executive Secretary-Treasurer Dennis Donahou. In appreciation of the efforts by Curtis and the symbolism it represents, the display will be front and center at all Council Meetings.
